Circle the correct answer

Question 1 – "Outwitting the Imp"

The next day, while the man was digging the hole, an Imp—a fearful creature of the forest—jumped from the trees. The Imp said, "I will help you dig the pit and you have to share with me the animals that fall in the trap." The Imp added, "All of the male animals that fall into the trap will be yours, but all of the female ones will be mine." The man felt he must agree.

What creature below is most like the Imp?

- A. a ghost
- B. a leprechaun
- C. a mermaid
- D. a mummy

Question 2 – "Outwitting the Imp"

On dropping down into the trap the Imp had become, according to his own agreement, a male animal in the trap. As a result, he belonged to the man. The Imp, to save himself, had to give up all claim to the woman. And this is how the boy outwitted the Imp and saved his mother's life.

What can you infer about the Imp?

- A. He will follow the rules of an agreement.
- B. He will follow the rules of an agreement as long as if the rules go in his favor.
- C. He will change the rules of an agreement if they don't go in his favor anymore.
- D. He will cheat so the rules go in his favor all the time.
